Biomaterials research and industry are closely related with the health of people. During the past decades, significant developments in this field have been achieved. In order to promote the academic and cultural exchanges between overseas and mainland China biomedical communities and to nurture the global young generation of biomaterial scientists and also establish their connections in early stage, we organize the International Summer School of Biomaterials (ISSB) in Zhejiang University, Hangzhou, China. You are highly welcome to join ISSB!

Apply For ISSB

The Applicants should fill the application form and send it to Dr. Weijun Tong (tongwj@zju.edu.cn) before July 10. We will inform the acceptance as soon as possible when we receive the application.
